OILSEEDS NEWS

SOYBEAN GROUPS PULL TOGETHER

Soybean growers and industry representatives have now formed a national body under the auspice of the Australian Oilseeds Federation.

Three industry groups from Queensland, northern NSW and the Riverina and northern Victoria will work together under the one body for the first time, with representation from all three regions on the National Soybean Committee.

Toowoomba-based Peter Brodie of Philp Brodie Grains will be the National Soybean Committee's representative for the AOF.

The Riverina Soybean Growers' Association will be represented on the AOF Committee by Coleambally grower Steve Wilson and Berrigan seed grader and exporter Max Dempster. Membership of the RSGA will be transferred to the RSGA Committee and members will receive the same service under the new structure.
